YESTERDAY'S GAMES.

First game. Brooklyn 5, Boston 0.
Philadelphia 5, New York 2.
Chicago 4, St. Louis 2.

They Split Even.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 1.—The first game lasted eleven innings, Boston winning through a fumble by McGlinchey. It was pitchers' battle, Nichols winning out because of faultless support. A muffed fly by Keeler in the sixth proved costly. Kennedy had the Bostonians at his mercy in the second, which was stopped in the seventh inning because of darkness. Williams was hit freely. The hitting of Keeler and Sheppard in the two games was a feature. Scores: R H E

Batteries, Nichols and Clarke; McGlinchey and Farrell. Earned runs, Boston 1; Brooklyn 1. Time, 2:20. Umpire, Hurst.

Carroll Lost His Bearings.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Carroll was the cause of New York's defeat at the hands of the Philadelphia to-day. He lost his bearings in the third and before he got settled again the visitors had three runs, more than enough to win. Score: R H E
Philadelphia.....14000000-5 11 2

The Wheeling Bowling League winter season was opened auspiciously last night. In the presence of 400 enthusiasts, K. K. K. defeating Rough Riders two out of three games. Before the contests on the alleys there was a magnificent demonstration upon the principal streets of the city, the ten teams of the league appearing in carriages, with Mayor Sweeney and Manager Fette and Summers band in the lead. There was great enthusiasm along the route, and many people were under the impression that a big political parade was in evidence. It was a most creditable showing and reflects credit upon Col. Fette and the bowlers in general.

AMUSEMENTS.

That clever comedienne and favorite singer of "coon" songs, Jolly Flo Irwin, opened two nights' engagement at the Opera House last night in the title role of Glen McDougall's brilliant musical farce comedy, "Miss Kidder".

Miss Irwin's charm of presence and her bright, refreshing personality have never been seen to so good advantage as in this role of a clever, brilliant young photographer, who looks on the bright side of things. The piece is the most clever ever written by McDougall and the enthusiastic reception accorded it is a convincing argument that farce comedy properly staged and produced is a popular form of theatrical amusement.

The play is bright with pretty scenery and costumes and is graced by dozens of beautiful girls. The jokes do not savor of antiquity, and the music is bright and sparkling.

The piece centres around the tribulations of a young man of social prestige whose family are blind worshippers of ancestors and titled pedigree. They expect that their only son and heir will marry a woman who will add lustre to the family name by coming of a long line of blue-blooded ancestors. He is considerably disturbed in mind by the conviction that he is in love with a young photographer who has beauty and wit enough to make a desirable daughter-in-law for any family, but who, unfortunately, comes of a most plebeian stock, and hasn't in fact even a shadow of an illustrious ancestor to shed lustre upon her name.

The engagement closes with to-night's performance.

"Because She Loved Him So."
"Because She Loved Him So," with the same cast that presented the comedy last season, will be the attraction at the Opera House next Friday evening, October 5. The story is said to be a pleasing mixture of fun and sentiment founded upon the quarrels of a fussy young couple and the effort of the parents to cause them to cease quarrelling. In order to demonstrate the folly of it, the old people pretend to quarrel in the presence of the children. However, the pretense of quarrelling is carried a little too far, and it comes near to resulting seriously to the loving old couple. "Because She Loved Him So" is an adaptation from the French by William Gillette, author of "Secret Service." "Too Much Johnson" and other well known plays, and while of French origin, is without the slightest trace of improbity.

"Too Much Johnson" and other well known plays, and while of French origin, is without the slightest trace of improbity.

"Watch on the Rhine."
Pure, innocent fun, interspersed with many scenes of intense dramatic interest is promised by Messrs. Chas. H. Yale and Sidney R. Ellis when they present Mr. Al. H. Wilson, a new star in the theatrical firmament, in their beautiful comedy-drama, "The Watch on the Rhine," at the Opera House Saturday matinee and night, October 6. The piece is said to be a drama full of many ludicrous situations and thrilling climaxes, and its comedy is so richly blended with pathos that laughter will chase away the tears and leave none but the pleasantest memories in the minds of theatre-goers long after both star and play have been forgotten. For the adequate presentation of this play, Messrs. Yale and Ellis have surrounded it with an invective of scenic equipment that is said to be unsurpassed on the stage.

"At the White Horse Tavern."
The management of the Opera House will offer a play for Wednesday evening laid in a field which has never been touched so prominently on the English-speaking stage. The drama bears the queer title of "At the White Horse Tavern," the name being derived from a famous and popular inn situated in the most picturesque spot of the Austrian Tyrol, in which the plot is laid. "The White Horse Tavern" is famous for its hospitality, and its buxom, livable hostess, and thither the people flock as regular patrons and transients from the world over. The authors have caused them to mingle in a plot containing the most delicate love touches, scenes that are instant transitions from the sweetest sentiment to the most exhilarating laughter and is consistently told by the oddest of characters and the loveliest of women. King & Norcross have engaged a company of nearly twenty people. Minerva Dorr and Frank M. Norcross head the cast.

A First Class Production.
That the Huntley-Jackson Stock Company is a high class dramatic organization, was attested last evening by the generous applause throughout the production of "For Liberty and Love," and particularly at the climaxes; and also by the general commendatory remarks of the audience upon leaving the theatre. The opening bill was a thrilling war drama, in which was woven a more than ordinarily fascinating love story. The specialties were excellent, and the "Two Pucks" scored a distinctive hit. This afternoon "The Defaulter" will be presented, and to-night the company will give Lincoln J. Carter's scenic masterpiece, "The Tornado."

Creston Clarke Coming.
The attraction which Manager Feinler has booked at the Opera House on Monday evening, October 8, is one which will bring out the better class of theatre-goers, and is really the opening of the season for the high class productions at this house. The occasion is the appearance of Creston Clarke and Miss Adelaide Prince there and when it became known that there favorite stars would return to the Opera House on next Monday evening, in the standard drama, everybody was very greatly pleased. Mr. Clarke is well remembered for his work in this city, and has always left an impression that is both lasting and extremely pleasant. "Hamlet" is the bill which has been chosen as there is a general desire to see Mr. Clarke in this role which brought his uncle, Edwin Booth, so much fame and in which he has made a profound impression himself. The sale of seats is now in progress.

WELLSBURG.
Doings of People in the Brooke County Metropolis.

Some recent Democratic attempts to injure the candidacy of Mr. E. George for state senate afford considerable amusement to people acquainted with the situation. Here in Brooke county, where Mr. George has passed nearly the whole of his seventy years of life, he will receive an overwhelming majority in November, and his friends have no fear of the result in the other counties of the district.

Rev. J. F. Rose, of Johnstown, Pa., will be the new pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, having been stationed here by the Pittsburgh conference in session at McKeesport, Pa., yesterday. Mr. Rose filled the pulpit here very acceptably for two months last spring during the absence of the pastor, Dr. R. T. Miller. The latter goes to Ford City, Pa.

There was considerable business before the county court at its session yesterday, including a number of applications for correction of alleged erroneous assessments. That of the Tri-state and Royal Gas companies was not for hearing on Wednesday.

At the meeting of the county court yesterday, the application of Messrs. Arbenz and others for an electric railway franchise from the Ohio county line to Wellsburg was presented. Consideration of the matter was postponed to Wednesday.

Resin B. Marsh, a prominent former citizen of Cross Creek district, aged forty-five years, died on Saturday, as the result of injuries received by being thrown from a wagon while at work on his farm.

MARTIN'S FERRY NEWS.

The Daily Chronicle of Wheeling's Progressive Neighbor.

The Vigilant Hose Company will give their picnic at McSword's orchard Saturday of this week, instead of the following Saturday. The change was made on account of the Wheeling field day. The Fulton racing team and the Independents, which were to have raced at the St. Mary's picnic on the fair grounds, at Wheeling, last Saturday, will come together on this date and this feature alone will attract a large crowd. An effort is also being made to get a race between the service teams of the Bridgeport fire department and the Liberty team, of this city, and this will be, if their efforts succeed, also a good drawing card.

An informal reception will be held at the residence of Mrs. Charles Morris this evening, by the members of the Young Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, of the First Methodist Episcopal church, in honor of Rev. J. T. Morron and wife, who leave in a few days for their new home at Cleveland.

Gideon McCord leaves the last of the week for Pueblo, Colo., to take a position as assistant foreman of the Welcome silver mines, in which Spence and Booth of this vicinity, are interested.

Thomas Green leaves this morning for New Cumberland, W. Va., to inspect the brick to be purchased from the Mack brick company, which will be used for the paving of First street.

Mrs. T. H. Morton, who has been the guest of the family of M. Bartholomew, on Walnut street, for the past week, left yesterday for her home at Dravosburg, Pa.

The Woman's Club will hold their first regular meeting of the season at the home of Mrs. R. R. Kerr, on "The Heights," Thursday afternoon of this week.

The Metropolitan Stars is the attraction at the Star theatre to-morrow evening. It is a high class vaudeville company and comes well recommended.

Rev. William Lewis leaves Thursday for Parisville, Ohio, where he will attend a semi-annual meeting of the Welsh churches of this state.

Emmett Forrester returned to his home at Uhrichsville, yesterday, after a few days' visit with the family of Fred Jones, on Walnut street.

A business meeting of the Mark Hanna marching club was held last evening and the meeting was largely attended.

A meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held this evening at the residence of Mrs. William Rector, on North Fifth street.

A regular meeting of the Knights of Pythias will be held this evening and five candidates will be initiated.

Miss Bessie Snodgrass returned yesterday, from a visit of several weeks with relatives at Mingo.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hipkins are expected home to-morrow, from a trip of a month on the lakes.

The J. J. Gill Club will meet this afternoon at 2 o'clock, at the Pabst hall, on Hanover street.

A regular meeting of the township trustees will be held at the clerk's office this afternoon.

Mrs. Clem Seidel, of Wellsville, is the guest of friends and relatives in the city.

W. T. Dixon, of St. Clairsville, was in the city on business yesterday.

A regular session of council will be held this evening.
